TIMELY

WARNING

Order your Graduating Suits now, thus preventing the unpleasantness of getting them at short notice. We have just made up a line of three button Cutaway Frocks and Prince Alberts, which are especially nice for graduating suits. The fabric is Crepe Worsted, very dressy, beautifully trimmed, and for a well proportioned form the fit is simply perfect. We have made up the coats and vests only, reserving goods in the piece for pants. Graduates in need of new suits we are sure will be pleased with these. If you will come early, select coat and vest before the sizes are broken, leave your measure and have the Trousers made to order and you will be equally as well pleased as if the whole suit was made to order, and with a saving in price of at least fifteen dollars.

LOCAL NEWS.

If you see it in the Townsman, it's news to be relied upon; if it is news and so, you'll see it in the Townsman.

Theodore Moody Osborne, Esq., of Salem has been chosen a trustee of Phillips Academy and Seminary in place of Edward Taylor, recently deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wardwell will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home on Summer St., June 14.

The Selectmen meet next Monday and it is the regular town pay-day.

To-morrow afternoon at two o'clock the annual athletic tournament between Phillips Andover and Exeter will take place at the running track on the Hill. Judging from the recent tournament, it should be a hard struggle for supremacy.

The June American Missionary in its list of receipts has the following amounts from Andover: A friend, for Indian M., $10; Juvenile Missionary Society of West Church for Pleasant Hill, Tenn., $25.

John McCarthy has about finished the cellar for William Wood's new house on Florence Street.

Post 90 G.A.R., the Woman's Relief Corps, and Sons of the Veterans attended memorial services at the West Church last Sunday morning. The pulpit was surrounded by handsome flowers, potted plants and flags, presenting a very pretty appearance. The pastor, Rev. F. W. Greene, gave a very appropriate, forcible and earnest discourse. His text was 2 Tim. 2:4; "No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier."

Several of the Walter L. Raymond Camp Sons of Veterans joined with the Lowell camp Memorial Day afternoon.

Rev. J. S. Bayne of Hadley, Mass., will preach at the South Church next Sunday.

Clarence Goldsmith, son of Wm. G. Goldsmith, left town yesterday for Chicago, having accepted a position at the World's Fair in an engineering corps.

Abbot Academy, one of the well known institutions, will have a space at the World's Fair. It will contain interior and exterior views of the different buildings of the school, and visitors will find circulars and other matters relating to the present and past of this famous seminary.

Professor Churchill preached at the Chapel last Sunday. His theme for the afternoon was chosen with reference to Memorial Sunday: "Enthusiasm for Duty." The music was also appropriate to the occasion. The Phillips Glee Club sang "The Land of Freedom" with fine expression. Professor Churchill preaches next Sunday at the Chapel.

Rev. A. H. Ross of the Seminary has received a call to Leadville, Colorado. He recently declined one from Millers Falls, Mass.

The residents of Scotland District enjoyed a pleasant entertainment in the schoolhouse at that place, Tuesday night.

The Woman's Relief Corps will have an entertainment in G. A. R. Hall Monday evening, June 5, at 8 o'clock, consisting of readings by Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall of Lowell, also by little Bessie Adams. Master Grant will also render musical selections on several different instruments. They will be pleased to see their friends, feeling sure that they are offering a pleasant evening's entertainment, while giving an opportunity of assisting in a good cause. Tickets 25 cents; children 15 cents. They may be purchased from Executive Committee or at the door.

The Andover Association met at the Free Church Monday and licensed the following members of the Seminary to preach: Samuel Bartlett, Jr., Hanover, N. H.; Louis Berry, Cambridge; Alexander Bourne, New York City; Charles Clark, East Hubbardston; John Denison, Williamstown; Frank Luce, Marion; Charles McKinley, Anita, Iowa; Henry Oxnard, Portland, Me.; Clifford Twombly, Newton, all of the Middle class; Garabed Haratune Adalian of Marash, Turkey, of the Senior class.

Rev. J. H. McLaren of the advanced class at the Seminary has been engaged to deliver his lecture, entitled "The Philosophy of Wit and Humor," at the Maine State Chataqua Assembly which meets at Fryeburg, Maine, in July. We clip the following from the official program: "The Rev. J. H. McLaren comes to us with the reputation of being a rare orator. He has delivered his lecture on 'The Philosophy of Wit and Humor' in both Maine and Massachusetts to delighted audiences."

Fancy shirts, collars and cuffs, latest styles in neck and summer underwear, and many more snaps than rooms to advertise in this issue, at Bradley & Co's. Keep your eye on their windows. They lead for summer styles.

The Congregationalist announces that Andover students are booked for summer engagements in Maine as follows: J. G. Nichols, Springfield; E. C. Bartlett, Isle au Haute; J. J. Walker, Rockport; H. H. Noyes, Topsfield; H. W. Kimball, Standish and Sebago Lake.

Mr. Wellham of the Middle class at the Seminary has gone to St. Louis for the summer.

On Wednesday R. A. Woods of the Andover House, Boston, finished his excellent series of lectures at the Seminary on "Modern English Reformers," taking John Ruskin for his subject.

J. S. Colby and family have removed to Marlboro', N.H., for the summer. Mr. Colby and his eldest daughter will attend the Columbian Exposition June 5 to 15. He expects to return to the Seminary for his Senior year next September.

The marriage of Rev. Gabriel B. Kambour of Templeton, a former graduate of the Seminary, to Miss Helen, daughter of Editor Peabody of the Lawrence Eagle, was performed by Prof. E. C. Smyth at Lawrence Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Prof. Smyth and Rev. C. C. Torrey were also present from Andover.

C. A. Booth has moved into his new house on Punchard Avenue.

Miss N. M. Webber, dress maker, has taken the room formerly occupied by Barnett Rogers in Carter's Block.

Several members of the Andover Bicycle Club took a run to Wakefield last Saturday afternoon, and in the evening held a pleasant meeting at their new rooms on Park Street. Tuesday eight of them took part in the great parade in Boston, carrying their new silk banner, presented to them by E. B. Hutchinson. In the afternoon they witnessed the races at Waltham.

The annual Draper speaking will take place at Phillips Academy hall next Tuesday evening at 7.45.

The Flower Mission will begin work for the season June 2, when either wild or cultivated flowers will be gratefully received, and may be left at Dr. Abbott's every Friday afternoon from four to six o'clock.

Mr. Page of the Senior class supplied the pulpit at North Church, Haverhill, last Sunday, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Geo. H. Reed, at Chicago.

It was the remark of a well known citizen, who has been a constant attendant of the memorial exercises, as he looked upon the uncovered heads of the veterans as they stood gathered around the G. A. R. lot, "The ranks are growing thinner year by year, and their locks are fast becoming snowy."

School Notes.

The North School opened again Wednesday, having been closed about a week on account of measles.

Miss May Hardy, teacher at the West Centre is ill with the measles.

The closing exercises of the different Grammar School grades in town will be held in the Town Hall this year on Friday, June 23. Longfellow will be the principle subject of these exercises, the idea being to unify the work and show as much as possible what the pupils have accomplished. Too often these closing exhibitions have been very little, and Supt. Baldwin desires to prevent any such result.

An exhibit in elementary science work opened in the English High School, Montgomery Street, Boston, Wednesday, and will continue one week. The Andover schools have a table near the centre of the hall and have a very good display. Saturday at the same place the N. E. conference of educational workers will meet and the programme will be on elementary science, including many able speakers.

Free Church Entertainment.

The entertainment at the Free Church vestry last Friday evening was a very one, but there was not a very large audience. The first part of the programme consisted of well-rendered selections by a choir of mixed voices and two piano duets by Annie Smart and Marion Spaulding. The cantata, "Old Friends and New Faces," made up the remainder of the programme, and the children did exceedingly well under Adam Lindsay's direction. They not only sang well but acted their parts nicely. The principal characters were taken by the following young people: Sister Ann, Mary Lindsay; Mistress Mary, Lena Lindsay; Humpty Dumpty, Will Lindsay; Jack, David Counts; Jill, Cecelia Kydd; Jack Horner, Harry Saunders; Mother Hubbard, Alice Counts; Little Boy Blue, Alec Dundas; Little Bo Peep, Jeannie Dundas.

An occasional bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla does more to correct the tendency of the blood to accumulate humors, and keep the organs sound and healthy, than any other treatment we know of. "Prevention is better than cure." Try it this month.

Base Ball.

To-morrow afternoon the Stonehams will oppose the Phillips batters.

The Stars of Lawrence received their third drubbing of the season at the hands of the Phillips nine last Saturday afternoon. The score was 11 to 1. Lannigan who pitched for the Stars was batted hard. Sedgwick pitched six innings and Simmons three for Phillips. Both were effective.

Several of the Harvard team, including Trafford, Cook, Frothingham and Highlands, witnessed the game Wednesday. The result was they arranged a game with Phillips for next Tuesday afternoon.

The Yale 'Varsity nine defeated Andover Wednesday afternoon in an exciting game, 2 to 0. There was no scoring until the fourth inning, when a base on balls, a hit, and errors by Donovan, Letton and Murphy sent two Yale men across the plate. The remainder of the game was finely played. Greenway allowed Yale only three safe hits and struck out eleven. Carter, Yale's famous pitcher, officiated for three innings, Davis finishing the game. Four hits and six strikeouts were their record.

Four old Phillips Andover men played on the Yale team, Capt. Bliss, Hodges, Case and Greenway.

Cricket.

The Bostons play here with the local cricket club to-morrow afternoon.

Last Saturday afternoon the Andover team was defeated at Longwood by the B.A.A. eleven 87 to 70. Andover lost the game wholly on poor fielding, the high scorers of B.A.A. giving several chances for put outs. Gordon and Coates batted well for Andover, making 22 and 17 respectively. Haddon and Bruce also bowled well.

A spectator sends us the following account of Tuesday's game between Andover and Chelsea: The cricket match between Andover and Chelsea resulted in the defeat of the former by 24 runs. We were pleased to see such an unusual large number of spectators, and hope that the English game will increase in popularity.

Although not present at the first innings of the game, we learned that with the exception of the sharp catch made by Coates, the poor fielding of the Andover team—three easy catches being missed off Saunders by Kidd, Pierson, and Haddon,—enabled Chelsea to score 79 runs. On the other hand, the fielding of the Chelsea team was pronounced excellent, the bowling of Whitcroft and Cowie especially being very good.

In the second inning the fielding of the Andover team was much better. Saunders' bowling being right on the wicket was very successful, and an excellent catch was made by Gordon. The fielding of the Chelsea team in this inning was by no means good, easy catches being missed by C. Taylor and Lawton. Moreover, the bowling of Whitcroft was irregular and he might have been changed to advantage at an early stage of the game. With the bat, Saunders made the highest score for Andover, and Shaw of the Chelsea team displayed the best cricket.

In the running, the backing up of both teams was far from being what it ought to have been. Many runs were lost, and where there were run-outs, runs should have been made. Chelsea made 79 runs in the first and 38 in the second inning; Andover 27 and 66. Saunders and Coates batted well.

The Sewerage Question.

Editor Townsman:—

For the sake of a clear understanding of what was proposed to be done at the recent town meeting, and after I had spoken in favor of the general purpose of the measure, I asked for an explanation of the change of board to be appointed from "Commissioners of Public Works" to "Sewer Commission." For the town had instructed the committee to ask the legislature to authorize the town of Andover to appoint commissioners of Public Works. The honorable moderator did not see fit to call for an explanation. So privately I asked one of the committee and found out; but not till after the Sewer commissioners had been appointed.

I was told privately that commissioners of Public Works would have to give their time and be paid (for said my informant "Of course they would expect to be paid") a salary of say $1000; that Sewer commissioners would only expect to be paid for actual service. Now for my part I do not see why a commissioner of Public Works in Andover could not be paid in exactly the same way: just for the actual time employed. The board that the town instructed its committee to ask for would manage all improvements with something of unity resulting from united action of a single governing or advisory board. But granting that to ask for Sewer commissioners was to ask for a cheaper body, the question of legal and parliamentary law arises as to the right of the committee to make a change even though in the interests of economy and directness, without first consulting the citizens who appointed them and authorized certain action.

It may be that to attain in the best way the object sought, as it appears to a committee, even if in so doing they do not carry out the letter of their instructions, ought to commend itself to all, and that it is right and legal to always perform the public business according to the general intent and spirit rather than the exact and definite instructions. I believe that in law cases have at times been decided according to the intent and spirit of public bodies voting rather than literal verbal and definite instructions. If the town accepts it, silence gives consent. Still in this case we take a part for the whole and neglect the opportunity of being authorized to act for ourselves in all public improvements and a wide awake town needs them, if she expects to keep in line with the march of improvements. If one committee can act according to private judgment in opposition to specific instruction, any future committee will have the same privilege with a result that may be pleasing or not. If a committee has been, is, or shall be instructed to do as they please according to their best judgment, then indeed such instructions would have breadth enough to permit the change of a board from a general commission to a special commission. Last spring the town instructed the committee to ask for a commissioner of Public Works to engage an engineer to go over the ground and map out a feasible plan for sewerage and also to draw up plans for Park improvements. Now an authorized Sewer commission would deal only with sewers in prospect and the Park improvements would remain with the committee who were a kind of Public Improvements board. But that incipient Public Improvement committee have been discharged. So it is a question as to what becomes of the Public Park improvements with the part of the appropriation therefor. A board of Sewer commissioners is not a board of commissioners for Public Parks. The possibility of a board of Sewer commissioners for sewerage and drainage has been authorized for Andover by the state legislature. But that is not a board of commissioners for Public Parks any more than it is a board of commissioners for roads and highways, though sewerage and drainage belong to and are needed in both roads and parks.

I am certainly in favor of sewerage as soon as possible for the sake of the health of the community. Sewerage can be carried beneath our streets—following the general slope towards the west and north and along the Shawshin valley to the town land in Frye Village where it can be deodorized and utilized. Government reports and agricultural and scientific papers contain reports of what has been done and may be done with sewerage for compost or manure manufacture.

The brooks and river of the town ought not to be converted into open sewers. What affects the health of one part of the town will be apt to spread its influence. Infectious diseases extend from the diseased section to others more or less remote, and selfish neglect will recoil upon the rich and isolated who consider themselves to have well provided for their own immediate protection.

The cost of sewerage and indeed of all improvements in town is a vital question, and taxes are alas! a subject of keen interest. Yet the town must have a system of drainage that shall eventually develop into sewerage and our brooks and river ought not to be made any more open cesspool areas than they already are.

Our wealthy citizens ought to contribute at least one-half of the cost and be honored by some memorial; the other half could be met by the town by bonding, and a certain amount to be raised by the town annually till that amount should be canceled. Let posterity help pay for the improvements whose benefits they will reap. We cannot afford to have our population more than decimated in the near future by malarial and infectious diseases spreading from our crowded streets and neighborhoods to the less thickly settled portions of the town. May the day soon come, when, though taxes may be somewhat higher, doctor's bills will gradually grow smaller and the necessity for drugs and medicaments almost if not wholly cease by reason of the healthiness and the purity of our now cesspool backyards, and gutters and brooks and river and fields.

OTIS CHICKERING.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest or Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at Arthur Bliss' and H.M. Whitney & Co.'s Drug Stores. Large size, 50c and $1.

A MEMORIAL SCENE.

How the Day is Observed in a Backwoods Village.

A correspondent of a New York paper describes a Memorial day scene as follows: Something like an hour later than advertised the procession forms at the church. First, the band in full uniform, with the village blacksmith as drum major in a bearskin hat of mammoth proportions, a gorgeous coat on his rather stooping shoulders, and wielding his baton as he would a sledge hammer, while the small boys crowd thickly about among the players and surround the bass drum like flies around a honey jar. Next, two diminutive drummer boys, very red in the face and very weary, bearing some battered drums wreathed with flowers, which have seen actual service in battle. Then all the sweet girls which the village school con-

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH AS DRUM MAJOR. tains, with bright, fair faces, white dresses gay with flying ribbons, and each one, down to the tiniest little lisping maid in the infant class who brings up the rear, skipping along in her haste to keep up with the large girls, bearing a cross of flowers held against her heart.

A squad of Grand Army men in uniform shamble along, lame from rheumatism, stiff and lumbering from their long marches in the furrows after their plows, and each one taking a kind of gas-you-please-only-get-there trot, and behind them one sailor in uniform, the cynosure of all eyes, steps proudly on alone, a big, handsome, brawny chested fellow, with a bronzed, strong face, and still farther back a veteran in a buggy drawn by an old, freckled, lame white horse sits with his wooden leg, which he has hewed and whittled out of a stick of wood, resting on the dashboard in front of him, the hero of the day.

Then comes the long line of carriages, buggies, wagons, buckboards, any kind of a vehicle on wheels, drawn by lame, tired plow horses, with heavy collars and pieces of sheepskin or scarlet flannel tied under the straps of the harness, and invariably with a tiny flag on their heads.

Arrived at the cemetery, all are seated in order, and the exercises open with a prayer. Everything in the country does begin with a prayer and closes with a benediction. After the prayer, the captain of the G. A. R. post, in the solemn and impressive words of the military service, proceeds to command the procession to reform and march to the graves.

Superstition That Is Ancient. In many parts of Great Britain the superstition still survives that it is folly or madness to save a drowning man, as he will sooner or later do an injury to the rescuer. The superstition comes down from our ancestors, yet traces of it exist among the Sioux and other Indians, who seem to have inherited it from aboriginal sources. The belief is most prevalent in Cornwall and various parts of Scotland.—Chicago Herald.

The Face of a Silver Dollar. Some numismatist, who delights in studying the face of the American dollar, announces that it "presents upon the obverse side not only a very good likeness of George II, but also a clearly delineated representation of the head of the British lion." It is said that these unpatriotic emblems were surreptitiously introduced by a perfidious Englishman who was employed in the Philadelphia mint.—Exchange.

Dame Nature

After compelling us to pass through a long series of disappointments at her delay, is putting on her most attractive garb. It is no more than right that all her admirers should follow her example. Permit us to offer a few helpful suggestions. We have a few Columbian Plaids. They are 50 inches wide, strictly all-wool, have never before been sold for less than $1.25. We offer them while they last for the unheard-of price, 75 cts.

12 pieces all-wool Black Henrietta, German manufacture, 38 in. wide, regular price $1, our price 75 cts.

A few more of those 24-inch Printed India Silks; we offer them at 43 cents to close. Positively a bargain at 62 1-2.

Perhaps you are about to graduate. A white dress is almost a necessity. We have a complete line of 40 inch goods at 50 cents per yard.—Henrietta, Nun's Veiling, Albatross and India Twill. Finer grades at 75 cents and $1.00.

1 lot 40 in. Lansdownes, finest quality, silk and wool, $1 per yard, in shades appropriate for all occasions—Cream White, Dove, Salmon, Nile, Tan, Blue, Golden Brown, Reseda and Heliotrope.

Artistic Photographs.

We wish to call attention to the fact that this is the only Studio in the city making a specialty of Crayon and Pastel Portraits of the Finest Quality. We have more samples and better grade than can be seen in any other Studio. Don't be "worked" on cheap Bromide Prints—they fade. We are sole agents for Calcutt's Patent Mounts, a beautiful Souvenir for the Holidays. We have adopted scaled prices for cabinet work, but still retain their general excellence. We also carry an exquisite line of Portrait Frames, all of New and Artistic Designs. You are invited to call and inspect them and judge for yourself.

ESSEX ST.,

LAWRENCE.

Would say to all purchasers of Dry Goods or Carpets that they find their stock is very much too large for this season of the year, especially when they take into consideration the cold, backward season which has much to do with the demand for Dry Goods. For this reason and in consequence of the great changes that will necessarily have to be made in connecting their Essex Street store with the new addition on Common Street, they have decided to reduce their stock during the next four weeks by offering extraordinary inducements all through the store, but the prices will be noticeably lower in departments where they are more largely overstocked. There are more choice styles here than in any other store in Lawrence, and the prices are lower than Boston prices.

SUITS!

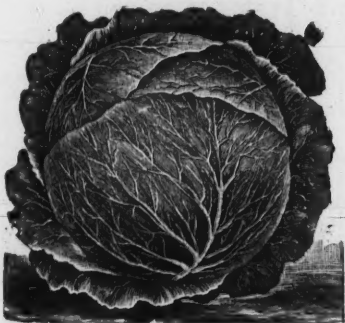

We can captivate the fancy of any that have a fancy to be captivated, and can gratify any taste however unusual it may be. We have produced suits that grace the forms of the best dressed men in the country, and hope to continue to do so. If you are at all interested, come in and see our line of woollens, and look around and make comparisons. It is hard to tell a cheaply made garment from a well-made one at first glance; it is only after a few weeks' wear that the weak points will crop out in a poorly tailored garment. We pride ourselves on never permitting a cheaply constructed garment to leave our establishment.

Memorial Day.

Once more the tender and patriotic associations of Memorial day have been brought to public attention. In Andover the occasion was of special interest, and the address by Col. Stone of Boston was greatly enjoyed. There can be no doubt that this anniversary has taken a firm hold on the affections of the people, and it is destined to continue for many years as one in which reminiscences of the dark days of the Civil War will be recalled.

But we observe one striking change which is gaining ground in all parts of the North. It is that clergymen rather than ex-soldiers are being invited to deliver the addresses. This could hardly happen if it were not felt that the great struggle of 1861-65 was essentially a moral one, and the outcome a gain for positive and practical religion.
Such was and is the fact, and the world will by-and-by recognize it without dispute.

The Briggs case is on again—this time before the National Synod of the Presbyterian Church at Washington.
Oh, dear!

L. Edwin Dudley has a realizing sense of how it feels to be fined roundly for breaking the law. He has long been the general secretary of the Massachusetts Law and Order League; and now
he is called on to pay $2000 to the national treasury because in 1874 he failed to make proper returns as an Indian agent in Arizona.

The old Boston Museum is to be rejuvenated. The skeletons and stuffed animals that for many years have been used as "bait" to secure the patronage of the country visitors to the city, have been carted away, and the interior of the building is to be remodeled. At least two generations of amusement seekers have been familiar with this collection of curiosities, and bucolic
grandmothers will now be at a loss
where to take their young charges for recreation, when they fear the wicked
enticements of the regular theatre.

Rev. Theodore C. Pease of Malden has been chosen Bartlett Professor of Sacred Rhetoric at the Seminary, by the Trustees of that institution, as successor of Rev. Dr. W. J. Tucker. He has the reputation of being a fine Biblical scholar and a cultured preacher.
He is still a young man.

The chair to which Mr. Pease is thus called has had eminent occupants since its foundation. Any clergyman may well feel it an honor to receive such an election, and in this case there is excellent reason for believing that a wise choice has been made. Mr. Pease has not yet decided to accept, but strong hopes are entertained that he will do so; in which event, the faculty, students and all interested will feel much gratified.

While the people of the North and West have been engaged in renewing their tributes of respect and love in memory of the heroes of the Civil War,
the Southrons have been indulging in quite a different demonstration! The remains of Jefferson Davis, the official head of the defunct Confederacy, were on Sunday taken from the tomb in New Orleans and removed to Richmond,
Va., the capital of the rebellious states.
All along the route there were representatives of the Lost Cause, with flags and uniforms which recalled the days of internecine strife. A military escort accompanied the casket all the way; and on Wednesday, in Richmond,
there was a scene attending the rein-
terment of the deceased chieftain,
which would be impossible in any other country than America. The question naturally arises whether the chivalry
of the Cotton States is really reconstructed yet. The evidences of their penitence for what they did and tried to do, thirty years ago, are sometimes rather equivocal.

The Exeter Game.

No event of the school year in Andover is looked forward to with so much interest as the annual "Exeter game"
of base ball.

Considerable consternation has been spread abroad the past week by the report that a member of the Exeter team would be protested by Andover as ineligible to play in the game under the rules governing the Andover-Exeter contests.

Such a report is correct, as the ball
management and faculty of Andover,
are convinced that Powers the catcher
of the Exeter team, should be debarred
from the game under rule 3, section II of the general Athletic rules. This rule is as follows:

RULE 3. No one shall be allowed to take part in the contests between the two schools:

(I) Who is not a bona fide member of the school he represents.
(II) Who has ever received money for playing or teaching any sport or who has engaged in any sport as a means of livelihood.

(III) Who receives compensation for his services in athletic games in addition to the expenses necessarily incurred by him in representing his organization in any athletic contest,
except that he may have the excess of his board paid at a special training
table.

(IV) Who has left either school and become a member of any university, college, scientific school or professional school.

If Exeter persists in having the protested member play, the result will probably be that there will be no base ball game this year. Such an outcome of the long training by both teams and the high expectations on all sides of a royal battle between these old rivals,
will be a great disappointment to students and citizens alike, but every one will heartily second the stand taken by Andover to keep athletics free from professionalism in every form.

Prof. Tucker's Successor.

Last Saturday the Trustees of the Theological Seminary elected Rev. Theodore Pease of Malden to succeed Prof. Tucker as Bartlett professor of sacred rhetoric at the Seminary. Mr. Pease graduated at Harvard in 1875 and at the Andover Seminary in 1880. For four years he was a pastor in West Lebanon, N.H., and was then called to the Congregational Church
in Malden, where he has since been, having had a very successful pastorate. By those in a position to judge he is said to be exceedingly well fitted for the position, combining unusual attainments in biblical scholarship with much critical faculty and devotion to the work of the preacher and pastor. He has not stated whether he will accept or not.

Musical.

The "musical d'invitation" given at the November Club House Friday, May 26, by Miss Gertrude Meacham, was a very pleasant affair. The hall was well filled, many of Andover's first townspeople being present. The programme was a most pleasing one, attractive to lovers of good music, and so short that the entertainment closed while all were still glad to listen. Miss Meacham's execution of the numbers was more than creditable to so young a performer, and her praiseworthy rendition of the varied program won the hearty approval of good judges.

Miss Meacham was ably assisted by Prof. John Orth of Boston, who has been her teacher for the last year. Prof. Orth is a thorough musician, and his playing is always delightful. The instrumental character of the entertainment was pleasantly varied by two vocal selections, which were finely rendered by Mr. Frank Thomas of Cambridge. The programme was as printed recently in the TOWNS-MAN.

Rev. Dr. Bradford on Congrega- tionalism.

The special course of four lectures on "American Congregationalism" by Rev.
Dr. A. H. Bradford of Montclair, N. J., were concluded on Friday evening last.
They were a sequel to his course of last year on "English Congregationalism,"
and were largely attended by the faculty of the Seminary under whose auspices they were given. Dr. Bradford's eminence in the denomination lent special weight to his utterance, and much valuable information was imparted which will be treasured by his hearers in future years.
They were of a practical rather than a showy character.

Memorial Day.

Tuesday was a splendid day for the ever interesting exercises of our soldiers' memorial. The weather could hardly have been much better. The streets were crowded with people during the morning, and though there were other attractions in town and in neighboring places, the proper observance of the day was not slighted. The custom still becomes more general of not only decorating the graves of soldiers, but of the departed ones, and in performing this duty
the different cemeteries were visited by many people.

Soon after 8.30 the line of march was formed in front of G. A. R. Hall, preceding to the Memorial Hall where rests
the soldiers' tablet, and which was finely decorated by florist Miss Woodbridge.
After a short stay here the procession moved to the Town Hall, which, as usual, was filled with a large audience.
The stage presented a pretty appearance,
the result of the use of potted plants
and the handwork of members of the Relief Corps.

Chaplain Peter D. Smith of Post 99 had charge of the exercises. After a selection by the band and song by a chorus of Punchard young ladies under the direction of Miss Lucia Merrill, Rev. T. A.
Hodgdon of the Methodist Church, Ballarvale, offered a fervent prayer. Another song followed, and then the orator of the day, Col. Henry Stone of East Boston, was introduced. He spoke for almost an hour in an interesting manner,
the main part of his oration being the war record of Gen. Thomas and the characteristics of this brave leader.

Speaking in general, Col. Stone said
during his remarks: "What gives worth and consecration to the example of those who in death we delight to honor is the cause for which they wrought and for which so many thousands gladly and proudly gave up their lives. What vision lured them on through the sufferings and sacrifices they so eagerly underwent? What dreams had these young heroes
which led them to scorn ease and home life itself in the struggle for final success?
What but the heavenly vision and dream
which illumine every ingenuous soul,
lighting it with the hope that the future
of his country may be better than its past? Who can imagine what this fair land of ours would now be if those who died for its salvation had proved recreant to their high calling? If the generation which has grown to manhood since their glorious translation had received its impulses from the blood of cowards and moral imbeciles?

"Is man's perdition to be safe
When for the truth he ought to die."

The singing of "America," and benediction by Rev. Mr. Hodgdon closed the exercises in the Hall.

The line of march was then re-formed
on Main Street in the following order:
Platoon of Police, Chief Cheever; Andover Brass Band, 22 pieces, drum major,
M. M. Hill; Punchard Cadets, Capt.
Eames; Walter L. Raymond, Camp 111
S. O. V., Capt. F. P. Higgins; Gen. W.
F. Bartlett Post 99, G. A. R., Commander
Geo. Dane; orator and chaplain; flower wagon; Relief Corps and chorus in barges. The usual route was gone over and graves decorated at the South and Christ Church cemeteries, detachments from the Post having visited the other cemeteries in town earlier. At the South cemetery the Relief Corps erected a monument to the unknown dead, and here taps were sounded by Cornetists Hulme and Downing.

The procession then returned to G. A.
R. Hall and barges were taken for the West Parish cemetery, the usual exercises being gone through there. Rev. F.
W. Greene offered prayer.

On their return to the Hall members of the G. A. R. and Sons of Veterans enjoyed a collation consisting of sandwiches, pie, cake, ice cream and lemonade. This was all nicely prepared by Caterer Wiggins. At the close of this repat the Post was called to order and it was voted unanimously that a vote of thanks be extended to G. W. W. Dove for the collation, and that the same be spread upon the records of the Post.

Sunday School Rally.

The Sunday School rally Monday night
at the South Church was well attended,
many being present from Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Andover. The exercises were carried out according to the program printed in the TOWNSMAN
last week, although the last part had to be abbreviated somewhat on account of Mr. Winship's long address. No one, however, regretted the time taken by him, as his subject on "Our Boys Tomorrow" was made most interesting and claimed the closest attention of all. Supt.
W. A. Baldwin gave some good ideas on "Organized Work," and District Secretary Markey made an interesting report.
The singing of the Seminary quartette
and the selection for cornet and organ by Messrs. Hulme and Shaw were much enjoyed.

A committee to make a district canvas
was elected, consisting of E. S. Thomas, J. Newton Cole and Dr. C. H. Gilbert.
Their duty will be to make a canvas of the town and ascertain the number of non-Sunday School goers and report to the various superintendents.

Although it is not claimed that Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures every ill to which flesh is heir, yet,
as a matter of fact, it comes nearer doing this than any other medicine ever compounded. In purifying the blood, it removes the source of nearly all disorders of the human system.

Annual Reading.

The annual reading at Abbot Academy,
last Friday evening, was marked, as usual, by a high degree of excellence.
That the masterly instruction, the magnificent drill, the inspiring guidance of Prof. Churchill has been missed is a self-evident fact; but that zeal in this delightful and refining department of study remains, that a pains-taking, well-drilled hand is still at the helm, was also apparent from the results presented on that occasion.

The selections, chosen for the most part from well-known authors, offered a pleasing variety of theme and style.
The rendering was in every way appreciative, forcible, and unaffected. The instructor, Miss Stoddard, is to be congratulated on the talent and enthusiasm
which it has been her privilege to guide,
and to be complimented upon the unquestionable success of her labors. The programme was as follows:

Wee Willie Winkie, Rudyard Kipling
Miss Julia Maude Sargent, Merrimac.
Bobby, And
Miss Katherine Hamilton Lahm, Canton, O.
Guessing Nationalities, Mark Twain
Miss Mabel Warner Stone, New Britain, Ct.

The Circus.

Scribner & Smith's proved just as big an attraction for Andover, Monday, as Barnum's would for Lawrence. The company landed here Sunday, coming over the road from Ipswich. Quite a large crowd gathered at noon to witness the street parade and a fair audience
witnessed the afternoon performance.
In the evening, however, the tent was well filled, over 600 being present. There was the conventional side-show, which contained the animals and other attractions. The show was fully as good as was expected, and the audience was satisfied. One of the best features was the troupe of trained dogs. The athletes and trapeze performers were all good,
and the clowns came in for their share of attention. After the circus a concert was given, more than half of the audience remaining. They exhibited in Nashua Tuesday.

Obituary.

William Ronan died quite suddenly at his home on, Morton Street, Wednesday evening. He was 58 years old and a native of Ireland. He had been sick for some time with typhoid fever, but seemed to be convalescing and his family had strong hopes of his recovery. Wednesday afternoon he was out, but toward evening went into the house and lying down, expired almost immediately. The cause was heart disease. He was an old resident and had been employed more or less of his time at Abbot Academy. The funeral takes place at St. Augustine's Church to-morrow morning.

Punchard School.

REVISED COURSE OF STUDY.

The course of study outlined below was recently adopted by the Trustees of the Punchard Free School to take the place of the three courses now in use.

The Trustees have seen clearly for some time that the course in English offered in the school has not been a strong one. The work in English provided for in the English Course was fairly good, but there were wide gaps even in the course. A glance at the outline of the new course will show that these gaps have been filled. We now have a continuous course in English for four years for every pupil in school.

We lose about half of our pupils by the end of the second year of attendance. This has been the case for twenty-five years and is in agreement with the experience of High Schools generally. To meet this condition the attempt has been made to so arrange the studies as to give those who can remain in the school only one or two years a broader and at the same time a more practical education than heretofore.

This desire to make the first two years as practical as possible led to the arrangement of the historical subjects that appear in the outline. For the last two years of the course the order, it will be noticed, is strictly chronological.

While the changes in the course relate for the most part to the matter of arrangement, some new studies have been introduced and others are to receive more time. The new studies are: Political Economy, Comparison of Governments, English Constitutional History, History of Music and History of Art.

The numbers in the outline indicate the number of recitations a week.

With the exception of the General Exercises, Music, Drawing, etc., the only required study is English. This subject is to be taken for the entire course by every pupil in school.

Every pupil must select subjects enough to make up a total of at least fifteen recitation hours a week. These subjects may be selected from those of the year to which the pupil belongs, or from any earlier year. Every pupil is advised to select, upon his entrance, or as soon as possible thereafter, some one line of work, as English, Science, or any other, according to his own tastes and aptitudes, as his special line of work and to make all he can of it.

Members of the school who intend to return for the following year are expected to inform the Principal of the school of this fact by the middle of the spring term (this year one week before the close of the term) and at the same time to pass in a list of the subjects selected for their next year's work. Pupils who are to enter the school are requested to give similar information one week before the opening of school in September.

The Principal of the school will be glad to consult with parents as to the best course for their children in cases of doubt.

The subjects having once been selected no change will be allowed during the year. Pupils preparing for higher institutions will be allowed to take any studies at any time most convenient for their purpose.

Some of the objects sought in the present revision of the course are:

1. To provide more and better work in English.
2. To offer a better course to those pupils who remain in the school two years or less.
3. To enrich the course with new subjects.
4. To do away, so far as possible, with review classes.
5. To make it reasonably certain that every pupil shall at all times be studying one subject at least in which he is interested.
6. To bring the preparatory courses up to the requirements of the leading colleges.

F. O. BALDWIN.

BALLARDVALE.

Thomas Clinton, an old resident died Sunday afternoon of pneumonia. He was a native of Ireland but had lived in this country forty years and here in town for twenty-five years. He has been in the employ of the Craighead & Kintz Co. for several years previous to which he was a section hand on the railroad. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters, one the wife of Mr. C. Cronin. The funeral was held Tuesday morning from St. Joseph's Church, high mass being celebrated. There were many floral tributes. His age was 59 years.

Mr. Anton Tiech of Meriden, Conn., was in town the latter part of last week.

The engine company decorated the grave of Frank R. DeShon Tuesday. Two beautiful pillows completely covered the grave.

Mrs. Albert Willard and children were in town Memorial Day, visiting Mrs. Willard's mother, Mrs. Salmond.

The annual election of officers of the Union Sunday School was held Wednesday evening. The following officers were elected: Sherman Goodwin, supt.; Arthur Shattuck, asst. supt.; Edward Miller, secretary, and Miss Sisco, treasurer.

Miss Helen C. Bradlee has again caused arrangements to be made for a series of band concerts to be given alternate Wednesday evenings during the warm weather. The Andover Band has been engaged and will begin the series next Wednesday evening, June 7.

H. A. Ramsdell has resigned his position as book-keeper for the Craighead & Kintz Co., and has gone into business in Weymouth, having purchased a general store there. His many friends wish him success. John Robertson has been promoted to his late position as book-keeper.

Silver Wedding.

The celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fischer which was held at the Cosmopolitan club house last Friday evening brought together friends from Meriden, Ansonia and Union City, Ct., and these with the many here in town who were present made a pleasant gathering.

The presents which had been brought from the house were shown on the tables in the ante-room and made a beautiful display. They were many and valuable and included a large swinging ice pitcher and goblet from the Cosmopolitan Society, a lemonade set and a cheese set from the ladies of the Society. A handsome ice pitcher, Mr. Horace Craighead; set of solid individual butters and knives, Mr. Nehr; silver tea service, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwartz; tea service, Messrs. Fred Winckwitz and Aug. Kernick of Meriden, cake basket, Mr. and Mrs. Schunacke and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Froesch; silver butter set, Miss Heintz and Miss Winckwitz; butter dish and knife, Mr. Kloepfel; one-half dozen fruit knives, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hoffman; ladle, Mr. and Mrs. Noessel; berry dish, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haber; berry spoon, Miss Riebe; sugar spoon and butter knife, William Riebe; salt and pepper dish, Mr. and Mrs. Sleath; cake basket, Miss Lawrence, and a handsome chair from friends.

A bountiful collation was spread in the rooms below, including all the delicacies of the season. Mr. Fischer in a neat speech thanked those present for their generosity. Mr. Wm. Froesch as president of the Society made a neat speech of presentation. The party dispersed at a late hour.

A GHASTLY MURDER

Fall River the Scene of an Atrocious Crime.

The Victim the Daughter of a Well-Known Farmer—Horrible Deed Surrounded by an Air of Mystery.

FALL RIVER, Mass., May 31.—The city is in a state of intense excitement, due to the discovery last night of an atrocious murder, rivaling in many respects those of Mr. and Mrs. Borden.

The victim was Miss Bertha Manchester, aged 23 years, a former student in the high school, and a descendant of one of the oldest families in this section of New England. Miss Manchester lived at a farmhouse, four miles from city hall, on what is known as the New Boston road, very near the Wilson road.

Miss Manchester was last seen alive about 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning, when her father, Stephen Manchester, left for this city, accompanied by his son and hired boy, to deliver milk on his regular route.

About 2 o'clock in the afternoon they arrived home. Freddy, his 12-year-old boy, opened the gate for the father to drive the milk wagon into the barn, and ran ahead into the house to get something to eat. He opened the kitchen door in the L of the house, and

Saw His Murdered Sister lying in a pool of blood on the floor. A hasty examination was made of the house and immediate surroundings. A bloody axe was found in a woodpile near the back gate.

After hunting all over the premises and being satisfied that the murderer, whoever he was, had escaped, a closer investigation of the case was made. A photographer and engineer were summoned, and 12 negatives and innumerable measurements were taken under the direction of the authorities.

The examination of the body disclosed horrible conditions. The young girl was lying close to the foot of the stove, where she had evidently dragged herself.

Through Pools of Her Blood. Her right leg was drawn under her body, her clothes were partly drawn from her hips and her head and face were frightfully mutilated.

There were four long, deep cuts on the back of the head and the top of the skull was crushed to a jelly. There were several cuts on the face and nose and two of the girl's teeth were found on the floor beside her. Her loose hair was matted with blood and her arms and face were covered with it.

The space in which she was found measured about 6 by 8 feet, and the sheathing and windows all around it were spotted with blood. Some few spots of blood were found leading from the kitchen to the cellar door, and there were pools of blood on the floor of the cellar just beneath where the body lay.

Neighbors Saw Nothing. Miss Read, a neighbor who lives across the road from the Manchester farm, said that she had been at home all day, but neither she nor the other members of her family had heard anything unusual about the place. Her statement deepens the mystery surrounding the tragedy, as Manchester always kept dogs on the farm. Two of these are bull mastiffs and a third is a Newfoundland.

Because no such noise was noticed by the neighbors the police are inclined to believe that the deed was committed by some one familiar with the premises.

The body of the murdered girl has been removed from the house to an undertaker's room. The house has been vacated for the present by order of the police authorities.

On searching the house the police found that the girl's bedroom had been rifled of some of its contents, including a lady's gold watch, valued at about $50, presented to the girl by her father four or five years ago.

Release of the Hersey Fund. BANGOR, Me., May 30.—The contest of a year is ended, and Bangor has the authority of the full supreme court of Maine to devote the Hersey fund of $100,000, which it holds in trust, to the erection of a new city building. The city council will now proceed at once with the work of construction. The plans are accepted, contract let and ready to be executed, while the arrangements are such that there can be no delays.

Bravery to Be Rewarded. BOSTON, May 31.—Collector Beard has received notification from Assistant Secretary of State Quincy that the department will present Captain Manley of the English steamer Borderer with a gold watch for bravery in saving the crew of the American schooner Iceland. When Captain Manley arrived at Boston he refused the salvage he was entitled to, saying, "It is only a humane act." The chief mate and two seamen will also receive gifts.

Counterfeiters at Bridgeport. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 29.—Saturday night several daring attempts were made to pass counterfeit money in this city. The bad money was in each instance in $5 bills, and the counterfeit was very poor. They were offered at a dozen places, but were refused. The police have a description of several men and women who offered the money. They think the gang became frightened and left the city.

New Hampshire Decreasing Her Debt. CONCORD, N. H., May 27.—The annual report of the state treasurer of New Hampshire shows the net debt to be $2,131,762.00, a reduction during the last fiscal year of $20,131.29, and a total reduction for the last five years of $726,897.97. The present debt is less than 1 per cent of the valuation for taxation. The state has no sinking fund, its policy being to redeem its obligation at maturity.

An Attempt at Suicide. BOSTON, May 30.—Redmond Purcell, 35 years of age, attempted to end his life by cutting his throat with a razor at his boarding place on Walnut street, Charlestown, last night. Purcell had a severe attack of grip early in the winter and has been despondent for some time, and this is said to be the reason for his act.

Missing Man Returns. QUINCY, Mass., May 29.—Bart Derry, who was reported missing from Quincy since last Monday, and who it was feared had met with foul play, has returned safe and sound. He said he had been at Brockton visiting friends.

A Sign of Prosperity. HAVERHILL, Mass., May 29.—The Haverhill Gazette will this week change to an eight page paper, to be printed on a Hoe web perfecting press.

A DASTARDLY DEED.

Eighteen Families Poisoned by Cheese Probably Tampered With.

SEABROOK, N. H., May 30.—Excitement reigns in this unusually quiet village, and the people of the town are thoroughly aroused by a wholesale poisoning case.

Eighteen families are suffering. In some cases four and five members have been brought low. No death has occurred, but some are expected hourly.

The poisoning is caused by eating certain cheese, sold by a grocer in the village named Alonzo Gynam. The cheese was received by him from a dairy in Vermont about a year ago.

Several families purchased of it, and sickness has followed its eating in every case.

Selectmen Fellows was taken sick in front of the postoffice on Saturday evening. He was conveyed to his home and remained unconscious for two days.

Among others suffering are Frank Fowler and five children, George Eaton and three children, Mrs. Fowler and four children and James Souther's wife and two children.

Dr. Fellows was called in and said the cases showed unmistakable signs of arsenical poisoning, and said that in some cases the poisoning would undoubtedly prove fatal.

The theory advanced here is that poison was put into the cheese at the dairy to pay off a grudge against the proprietor.

The authorities will look into the case. There are several cases of poisoning in Salisbury, just across the line, caused by eating some of the same cheese.

Found Drowned in a Brook.

NORTH BROOKFIELD, Mass., June 1.—Charles Underwood, an inmate of the town farm, was found dead yesterday morning by Warden D. C. Perkins. Underwood was missed Saturday afternoon, and search was made all day Sunday in the woods. His body was found lying on its face in the brook near the residence of Hiram Hill, not far from the farm, only half covered by water. His coat and hat were on the bank, showing that the deed was premeditated.

Run on a Rutland Bank.

BENNINGTON, Vt., May 29.—There was a run on the old savings bank in Rutland Saturday. All depositors making demands were paid in full. The run is an outcome of the failure of the Vermont Investment and Guarantee company. The bank has about 8000 depositors and $2,700,000 in deposits. It has been reckoned as strong as any concern in the state. Officers of the five national banks here express perfect confidence in the savings bank, and say that they will give it any help it needs.

Where Is Mabel Morrison?

CONCORD, N. H., May 31.—Mabel Morrison of Northwood Narrows, aged 18, has been mysteriously missing for about three months. At the time of her disappearance she was at work for a family at the Narrows. She went out in the evening, saying that she was going to a prayer meeting at the chapel vestry, and that was the last seen of her. She left all her clothing excepting what she wore, and also over $60 which she had in the savings bank.

Evidence of Murder.

NATICK, Mass., May 29.—The Italian gang on the Boston and Albany railroad unearthed the skeleton of a man about eight feet below the surface. The body must have lain there for years. It is supposed that he was a laborer who had been killed when the place was dug up before and that he must have been buried by a fellow laborer to avoid trouble. A clay pipe near by adds credence to this story.

An Alleged Conspiracy.

LYNN, Mass., June 1.—Thomas J. Lally, formerly employed as a cutter in the shoe factory of Welch & Landrigan, has brought suit to recover $5000 damages against members of the Knights of Labor local branch. Lally charges conspiracy against these parties, alleging that they have prevented him from securing work in Lynn, especially in Welch & Landrigan's factory.

Will Serve on the Governor's Staff.

BOSTON, May 27.—Governor Russell has appointed Percy Parker of Lowell to a position on his staff. Colonel Parker is an ex-officer of the army and was graduated from the United States Military academy at West Point. He is treasurer of the American Belt company and prominently identified with the management of street railways.

Died at Danvers Insane Asylum.

DANVERS, Mass., June 1.—Miss Catherine C. Wiswell died at the Danvers insane asylum at the age of 50 years. She has been an inmate of this institution for the past 20 years. She was formerly a teacher in the Center school and an active member of the South church in Peabody. Religion affected her mind.

Diphtheria In Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Me., May 27.—John C. Sanford, head supervisor of wards at the Maine Insane hospital, died yesterday of diphtheria. This is the fifth fatal case in three months. Dr. Sanford was extremely popular. He was a native of Palermo. He leaves a wife and child.

A Horse's Kick Results Fatally.

LAWRENCE, Mass., May 27.—Albert Barry, a prominent farmer residing in North Andover, while plowing last Monday, was kicked in the forehead by one of his horses, from the effect of which he died yesterday. He was 63 years old and leaves a family.

No Visitors For Lizzie Borden.

TAUNTON, Mass., June 1.—Lizzie Borden will see no visitors except her counsel and her sister from now until the beginning of her trial. Ex-Governor Robinson gave instructions to that effect the first of this week, and the rule will be strictly followed.

Involved in the Leather Failures.

SALEM, Mass., May 27.—J. A. Lord, leather manufacturer, has assigned. Mr. Lord did an extensive business in this city, and his assignment is due entirely to the failure of Richardson & Dennie of Boston. His name was on considerable of their paper.

No Settlement Yet.

BOSTON, May 30.—At the office of Micah Dyer, Jr., in the Exchange building, it was said yesterday that the attachment against Charles A. Prince's property had not yet been satisfied. The notes which went to protest amount to $10,000.

Dadman's Body Recovered.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 1.—The body of Harry Dadman of Somerville, Mass., who was drowned at Lake Massabesic May 2, was brought to the surface yesterday by the screw of the pleasure steamer Alice Oakes.

Well Known Manufacturer Dead.

MANCHESTER, N. H., May 29.—William L. Killy, a well known cotton manufacturer, for many years agent of the Langdon mills, died Saturday, aged 77.

A Curious Record.

A peculiar and suggestive record has lately come to light, in the city of Berlin. A citizen of that capital died at the age of seventy-two, leaving a very exact account of his expenditures for fifty-two years. He had smoked 628,715 cigars, of which 43,692 had been given to him, and the others cost him $10,433. In fifteen years he drank 28,726 glasses of beer and 36,081 glasses of cognac and other spirituous beverages, for which he paid $5350. For charity, for religion, he gave next to nothing. He was a convivial soul, with a taste for bookkeeping in this exceptional fashion. And now he has gone to another world, leaving his record and his example. Young men, do you want to choose his course for your own?

It is very probable that some comma-shaped microbes may be found in the United States this year. The comma shaped fellows mean cholera. The surest preventive of cholera is cleanliness. House cleaning this year should be most thoroughly done, and we suggest to the good housewife that a coat of Chilton Paint for inside work will not only beautify the home, but will kill any stray comma-shaped microbe that by any misfortune may find its way into the house. We suppose that almost any kind of paint would kill cholera microbes and perhaps if that were the only object in painting, some of the cheap paints that contain benzine in such liberal quantities would be as good, but we think that while you are using paint as a preventive of cholera, it is well to use the Chilton, not because it will kill more microbes than any other paint, but because it will last longer, keep brighter, and look better than any paint you can use. Get a pound can and see for yourself. Chilton Paint Co., New York and Boston.

"For Years,"

Says CARIE E. STOCKWELL, of Chesterfield, N. H.: "I was afflicted with an extremely severe pain in the lower part of the chest. The feeling was as if a ton weight was laid on a spot the size of my hand. During the attacks, the perspiration would stand in drops on my face, and it was agony for me to make sufficient effort even to whisper. They came suddenly, at any hour of the day or night, lasting from thirty minutes to half a day, leaving as suddenly; but, for several days after, I was quite prostrated and sore. Sometimes the attacks were almost daily, then less frequent. After about four years of this suffering, I was taken down with bilious typhoid fever, and when I began to recover, I had the worst attack of my old trouble I ever experienced. At the first of the fever, my mother gave me Ayer's Pills, my doctor recommending them as being better than anything he could prepare. I continued taking these Pills, and so great was the benefit derived that during nearly thirty years I have had but one attack of my former trouble, which yielded readily to the same remedy."

DR. HUNTER'S CATARRH REMEDY

$1.00!
We will give One Thousand Dollars ($1000) to any patient, taking one box of the above remedy that is

ANTICIPATION.

One time we stood upon the water's edge
That flowed far out into its parent sea.
And there while summer blushed on field
And hedge,
We vowed to love throughout eternity.
And thou, fond heart, hast kept that vow
Full well.
Through every change that protean fortune brought
But I am sunken in the waves that swell
O'er Scylla's hidden rocks—and am forgot.
What stern mischance hath snapped the golden thread
That bound thy heart in union with mine?
Unless her soul be Niobe's instead.
Whose tears may flow as feelingly as thine?
From whom may pardon come if not from thee?
And yet I dare not ask so great a boon.
Whose life is wrecked like thine? And who is she
Hath warrant to sing so sad a tune?
Yet cease those mournful sighs, as deep perchance
As ever Dido for Æneas heaved;
The future lies beyond; the recompense
Of time is most for her who most hath grieved.

One hope I have that absence cannot take,
One longing that the world can never steal;
When life is done, in other spheres to wake,
And at thy feet a worshiper to kneel.
—St. George Best in Good Housekeeping.

London's Theater Curtains.

One of the finest curtains in this country is at the Lyceum theater. On it all that art can do has been lavished. Made of a rich, beautiful plush of dragon's
blood hue, it hangs from the proscenium arch in artistic folds. The curtain was presented to Mr. Irving by the Baroness Burdett Coutts, its cost being 1,000 guineas. One thousand yards of plush were used in its manufacture, and it achieved the fame of once being parodied
in a Gaiety burlesque.

Mr. Wyndham's curtain at the Criterion is a creation of Maple & Co. and cost about £120. At the Gaiety the present act drop is the work of Mr. George Banks. The artist's conception takes the form of a great white satin cloth,
with a solitary figure opening two curtains. The Savoy curtain is noted both for its beauty and the artistic manner in which it rises and reveals the stage. The act drop at the Adelphi, the home of "creaky" melodrama, is a curtain which has marked the resting places of countless pieces of the transpontine type. It represents a scene in Sherwood forest
in the days of Robin Hood and his merry, merry men.—London Million.

In a Hospital.

Doctor (to patient)—Young man, you do not seem to pick up as fast as I expected you would.

Patient—That's so, doctor. I don't feel as if I would be able to leave the hospital for some time yet. I believe that the nurse is to blame for it.

"Why, how is that?"

"Well, she is only 18 years old and very good looking."

"I think I'll have to prescribe another nurse."—Texas Siftings.

TOLD AT THE GRAVE.

A STORY FOR MEMORIAL DAY.

(Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.)

AT THE base of a mountain spur
in northern Arkansas is a grave.
There is an air of subdued romance
about the place, an indescribable
something that breathes a hallowed sadness. The country is of old but thin settlement. Up the narrow valleys the ferns are rank, and on the hillside beflowered vines cling to the rugged trees. The grave is under a willow that shades an open space. It is the only willow in the neighborhood. Once every year since the war a man and a woman have come from the north to decorate this lone grave. At first the woman, bright eyed and springy of step,
was exceedingly handsome, but latterly
time had ceased to be playful with her.
The man was sturdy and of sober mien.
He looked as if his life had always held a secret suffering. This man and this woman have rather a unique history.

At the time of the breaking out of the war John and Henry Archer, brothers
so nearly alike that they were often taken for twins, lived in Lake county,
Ill. John was engaged to marry Tress Pryor, and the day for the wedding was appointed, but before the time came a drum beat, and sturdy young fellows mustered on the grass.

It was evening, and Tress Pryor was standing on the veranda. John rode up, sprang off his horse and with a new accent in his manner—a peculiar bearing—came up the walk.

"Tress," he said, "did you see the men marching?"

"Do you know what it means?"

"They say it means war," she answered.

"It means more than that, Tress. It means that you are to marry a hero."

"I don't know that I understand you."

He laughed. "Are you so dull, little sweetheart? It means that I am going to the war."

"It means nothing of the sort," someone exclaimed, and John, wheeling about, saw his brother Henry standing near.

"What's the trouble with you, Henry?"

"There's no trouble with me. I am simply sensible, and you must not be foolish." He pointed to the girl. "There is your present duty. I am going to the war. You are going to stay here, and after awhile if we need you I will send for you."

"Well, now, this is a pretty come off," John declared. "You would make a hero of yourself and a drudge of me.
You are not engaged to be married and are therefore a patriot. I am in love and am consequently a coward. Tress, you needn't say a word. I am going to the war."

"I haven't said anything," the girl replied.

"Good, and it means that you give your consent."

"It means that you must do what you consider your duty."

"You are a brave girl, Tress."

"If not, I shouldn't be worthy of you, John."

"That sounds very well," said Henry,
"but without common sense bravery is but an aimless piece of foolishness."

One soldier from our small family, I should think, is enough to prove our loyalty to the government."

"Henry, you needn't say a word. I'm going to the war."

The next day John and Henry were mustered into the service, and it was not long before they were under fire.

One day in a skirmish not far from Fayetteville, Ark., John was shot while standing under a willow tree. He was so severely wounded that it was thought he could live but a few hours, but when the next morning had come he showed signs of improvement. He was taken to the hospital, and his brother Henry was detailed to attend him until an advance should be ordered. One day there came to the hospital a young woman from Kentucky. She had been regarded as a belle in the blue grass country, but she gave up society and went south to nurse wounded soldiers. This young woman took special interest in John Archer. She made a romance of her duty, and at times when the wounded man seemed brighter than usual she would sit near his cot and read poetry to him. But upon this Henry began to look with disapproval, and once when the girl had gone to fetch another book
he said to his brother:

"I don't think that's right, John."

"Don't think what's right?"

"Why, having that girl read love verses
to you."

"She's reading to herself as much as she is to me."

"I don't know about that, John."

"I do."

"Well, but I don't think it's right, and I know Tress wouldn't approve it."

"Then why doesn't she come and read to me?"

"She doesn't know that you are wounded. I haven't had the heart to tell her."

"Hush; here comes Miss Bush."

Henry withdrew, but some one spoke to him, and he halted within hearing distance of his brother's cot.

"I didn't suppose you were so fond of poetry," said Miss Bush, speaking to John.

"I wasn't until I heard you read it."

"Oh, that's a compliment surely; but,
tell me, since you acknowledge that I have pointed out the beauty of"—She hesitated.

"Tell you what?"

"Oh, nothing."

"But what were you going to say?"

"Something hardly proper, I fear."

"Tell me," she pleaded.

"Oh, I don't suppose that it amounts to anything. I was simply going to ask if there had not been a time when some girl stirred a poetic emotion in your heart."

A few moments elapsed before he replied, "I worked so hard when I was at home that I had but little time for"—
"For love?" she asked.

He nervously fumbled with the covers of the bed, and gently she arranged the pillow for him.

"Near our place," said he, "there is a girl that I've known a long time. I've known her about all her life, I guess."

"What about her?"

"Well, I told her that she should marry a hero. You see, I thought I'd go home covered with glory."

"Oh, you are engaged to her."

"Yes, in a way."

"In a way! Why, what a funny sort of an engagement that must be! Shall I read now?"

"If you please."

After returning home it was some time before Henry had the courage to call on Tress Pryor. But one evening he went to see her. As he entered the gate he saw her standing on the spot where she had stood when John came dashing up to tell her that he was going to the war. She reached out and took his hands, and for a time neither of them spoke.

"Tress, he died for his country."

FOOK SPECIAL INTEREST IN JOHN ARCHER.

"And for me," she said.

"E-s-s." He lay a long time in the ho-pital, and we thought he was going to get well, but a sudden change came, and he died. He begged to be buried under the tree where he fell, and we buried him there."

"But did he send no word to me?"

"Oh, yes, he talked about you a great deal. He was brave, and if he had I back you would have married a hero."

And it was Henry Archer and Tress
Pryor who went every year to decorate
the grave under the willow. They became well known in the neighborhood,
and school children used to climb high
up the mountain side and get strange flowers for them. Henry moved to the northwest, but on time every year he would get off the train at the milk station near Tress' home.

One time when he came she said to him:

"It doesn't look right to drag you
away from your business every year.
My time, you know, doesn't amount to anything."

"Mine doesn't amount to so very much," he answered; "and besides it is a great pleasure to go there."

"Yes, it is. But tell me, Henry, why is it you have never married?"

"Oh, I don't know. Because there have been so many divorces, I suppose."

"That's a queer reason. But it isn't the reason, and you know it," she added,
looking him full in the eye.

HE HAD SEIZED HER HANDS.

"Well," he replied, avoiding her gaze,
"if that isn't the reason I don't know what it is. Perhaps I had a cause a good while ago."

"And you have forgotten what it was," she said, laughing, but in her laugh there was more of sadness than of mirth. After a time she asked, "Do you think a man's love is as constant as a woman's?"

"Not always, but sometimes," he answered.

"But do you believe that a man or a woman can love twice with equal devotion?"

"I don't know how it may be with others," he answered, "but I could never love but once."

"Oh, you have been in love, then, have
you?"

"Tomorrow we start for the grave,"
he said.

"Yes, but you have not answered my question."

"I will answer it at the grave."

It was the 30th of last May. Henry and Tress sat under the willow. Another generation of school children had brought violets from wild places and had gathered blossoms on the mountain side.
The grave was ablaze with red roses,
white dogwood blossoms and bluebells.
The sun was low. The cows, ringing their bells, were going home. Henry told a story which so often he had related:

"The skirmish was sharp, almost a battle, and there was danger everywhere,
but John was too brave to stand behind the tree. I was not far away, and the bullets were buzzing thicker than bumblebees in our meadow, but somehow I was not afraid of being hit—my mind was centered on John. What difference could it have made if I had been shot?"

"Don't talk that way," she interrupted.

"But why should I have cared for myself? There was no one at home waiting for me to come back a hero." He paused for a few moments. "An increase in the firing to the left caused me to turn in that direction, and when I looked back John was down."

"You have never pointed out the place where the hospital stood," she said.

He was silent for a time. "I don't like to think of the hospital."

"Why?" she asked.

"Oh, on account of a woman!"

"You have answered me at the grave,"
she said, looking away. "You were in love with her."

"No, I wasn't, Tress."

"Yes, you were."

"I swear I wasn't."

"Yes, you were."

"Tress, I hated her."

"Hated her! What for?"

"Because she was your enemy."

"My enemy! Henry, I don't know what you mean. How could she be my enemy?"

"She loved John."

"Oh, and is that all?"

"All," he repeated. "Isn't that enough?"

"To have made her my enemy? No."

"But—but—it's got to come now. John loved her."

"How do you know?" She was so quiet that he was surprised at her.

"I might as well tell you all now.
Here." He took from his pocket an old and faded letter. "He told me to give you this, but I hadn't the heart. Read it."

The letter was brief. It was the breaking of an engagement. She read the letter and quietly handed it back to him.
He gazed at her in astonishment.

"Tress," he cried, "on his deathbed
he married that woman." She did not answer.

"I say he married her."

"Well?"

"Is it possible? Tress, I ought to have told you—ought to have given you the letter—but I thought you worshipped him. And why have you decorated his grave all these years?"

"Because he was your brother."

"What! I—don't?"

"Henry, oh, how stupid you have been,
you!"

She did not complete the sentence. He had seized her hands. "Merciful heaven,
girl, I have always loved you!"

"And, precious, I never loved John, because I loved you, but I was afraid you would despise me if I were not true to his memory. You engaged me to him. I don't know how, but you did."

The sun was down, and the music of the cowbells was far away.

NORTH ANDOVER.

Mr. Albert Berry is the second member of the North Andover Grange whom death has called.

On account of the pressure of local Sabbath School work Mr. Alba Markey has felt obliged to tender his resignation as secretary of the District Sunday School League, to take effect after June 16.

Mr. Joseph Collins and grand-daughter, Edna Collins, of Danville, N.H., were visitors at the home of Mr. B. C. Smith Memorial Day.

Services particularly in the interests of the children will be held at the Methodist Church Sunday, June 10. Rev. Mr. Matthews will preach to the children at 10.30 Sabbath morning, and Supt. Markey will conduct a concert at 6.30 o'clock in the evening. It is probable that the church will be suitably decorated for the occasion.

It has been suggested that we call the attention of the officers to the bicycle riding on the sidewalks, which is said to be again coming in fashion, to the discomfort of pedestrians.

Monday was visiting day for Miss Tucker and Miss Hatch at the Bradstreet School.

Selectmen meet at the village office Monday.

Mr. Edward Rowe left the employ of George W. Russell as foreman at "Meadow Brook Farm," and was succeeded by a Mr. Cummings, June 1st. Mr. Rowe has gone to Methuen.

Miss Kate Johnson, with friends from Lawrence, will start for Chicago June 6 for a stay of three weeks.

Mr. Patrick Reardon of the Centre severely injured his foot last week by driving the points of a fork completely through it. He was confined to his room for a number of days, but is now at work again.

At the meeting of the Helping Hand Thursday the following officers were chosen: President, Mrs. Louis Weil; vice-president, Mrs. J. H. Rea; secretary and treasurer, Miss Kate Stevens; executive committee, Mrs. A. M. Stevens, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. Harry Clark; outside committee, Miss Kate Stevens, Mrs. S. D. Stevens; inside committee, Mrs. F. Hanford, Mrs. John Elliott.

Children's Sunday, June 10, will be appropriately observed at the Congregational Church.

Rev. James Alexander of Tewksbury will preach to the people of the Congregational Church Sunday.

A cablegram from Constantinople, Turkey, was received Monday, May 29, by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Gile, conveying to them the happy information of the birth of a grandchild, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Panaretto. Friends here extend their hearty congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hanscom are recreating in Vermont.

The services at St. Paul's Church next Sunday morning will be as follows: morning prayer with the Sunday School at 9.30 o'clock; litany and holy communion at 10.30; evening service at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Simeon J. Kittredge removed the first of the week to his recently purchased house on Marblehead Street.

A social gathering in charge of the social committee was held in the vestry of the Congregational Church Wednesday evening. During the early evening a series of tableaux representing Tennyson's "Dream of Fair Women" was presented, the characters being taken by Misses Lettie M. Barker, Nellie M. Stillings, Della Marston, Susie Morrill, and Mary I. Baldwin; song by Messrs. A. P. Chickering and C. H. Morrill. Refreshments of strawberries, cream, and cake were then served. The programme was then resumed and a solo, "The Bell," was well rendered by Mr. John Duncan. A burlesque entitled "A Dream of Fair Men" was then represented by tableaux. Albert Stillings appearing as George Washington, Charles H. Morrill as Benjamin Franklin, and John Duncan as Paul Revere caused much laughter and applause.

Next Wednesday evening will occur the "mum supper" in the vestry of the M. E. Church. An attractive programme has been arranged. Among the talent expected will be Miss Florence Collum, reader, of Haverhill; Master Simas, the ten-year-old violinist, also from Haverhill. Miss Faith Rushworth, vocalist, and Miss Mattie Walker, cornetist, of Lawrence. Other instrumentalists are also expected. Admission, including supper, 25 cents.

The engagement of Miss Alaxa G. Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Saunders, to Mr. Winslow Goodwin of Ballardvale, will terminate in marriage next Wednesday evening at seven o'clock. Only the immediate friends and relatives will attend the ceremony.

A Card.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness and thoughtfulness during our recent bereavement.

Memorial Day was commemorated at the Grange Tuesday evening by the following pleasing programme: Decoration song, Grange choir; reading, ode for Decoration Day, Mrs. Hattie Barker; memorial song, Grange choir; reading, "Origin of Memorial Day," Mrs. Alice Young; reading, "Cover them over," Miss Mary E. Nason; song, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," Grange choir; reading, "Memorial Day," Miss Mary Towne; song, "The Star Spangled Banner," Grange choir. The committee in charge was Mrs. Kate Barker and Miss M. Nettie Berry.

The sale and entertainment of the Charitable Union in the vestry of the Unitarian Church Wednesday next promises to prove attractive to the public, and deserves patronage. The doors will open at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when there will be a sale of aprons, confectionery, flowers, bundles of unknown contents, ice cream and cake, chocolate, etc. In the evening the sale will continue, and an entertainment will also be provided. The courtship of Mr. Bumble and Mrs. Corney will be represented by Messrs. C. H. Morrill and A. P. Chickering. Reading by Miss Carrie Dean. The entertainment will conclude with the farce, "Box and Cox," in which Mrs. J. H. Rea will impersonate Mrs. Bouncer, Mr. Albert McDonald, Box, and Mr. Peter Holt, Jr., Cox. Admission, 15 cents. Electric cars will accommodate passengers at the close of the entertainment. The supervising committee is Mrs. Harry W. Clark, Mrs. W. W. Chickering and Miss Kate Stevens.

The sociable of the Epworth League last Wednesday evening was an enjoyable occasion. Eight young gentlemen, some of whom assisted in entertaining, were present from the Parker Street Church of South Lawrence. A varied musical programme was rendered. Ice-cream and cake were served. A sum of about $7 was cleared.

The School Committee meet to-day.

Mr. Frank McQueston returned last week from an eleven months' trip to the Bermuda Islands and the West Indies.

Mrs. S. E. Way, who is to attend the World's Fair in September, will sail for Europe the last of June. Until that time she will be at her drawing rooms, 192 Boylston Street, Boston.

Miss Mary B. Sproul, of the Centre primary school, visited schools Wednesday.

Wedding.

AYERS—LEE.

The cosy home of Mr. A. V. Chalk, Main Street, was the centre of much happiness during the early hours of last evening. The occasion was one of especial joy to Mr. William Edward Ayers of town, and Miss Lottie May Lee of Lawrence, it being the time of their marriage. The wedding was of a semi-private character, only a limited number of the friends of each from this town and Lawrence having the opportunity to attend. The bride was becomingly arrayed in a garment of soft white muslin cut en train, with V shaped corsage, trimmed with Oriental lace. A pretty hat matched the wedding gown, and she carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Mary Crockett of town was the maid of honor and was attired in a gown of soft white material and also bore a bouquet of roses. Mr. Marcus Charles Magoon of town was groomsmen.

Rev. Henry Matthews of the Methodist Church officiated, performing the ceremony according to the Episcopal ritual, about 8.30 o'clock, the happy couple standing in one corner of the parlor which was fittingly decorated with flowers. The best wishes of friends was followed by a dainty repast, and at a later hour as Mr. and Mrs. Ayers left for their temporary abode on Water Street, the usual omens of good luck followed in close proximity.

Obituary.

MR. ALBERT BERRY.

Mr. Albert Berry, a life-long resident of this town, died at his home on Friday morning, May 26. Mr. Berry was a quiet, unassuming man, a good citizen; and the universal regrets at his illness, and sincere sorrow of all at his decease, attest to the respect in which he was held. In his home he was all that a husband and father could be, and as a neighbor was much beloved. He was an attendant of the Unitarian Church, a member of the Cochichewick Lodge of Masons, and of the North Andover Grange; also of the Royal Arcanum at Andover. His age was 62 years, 6 months. He leaves a widow and three children, Miss Annette, and Messrs. Charles A. and S. D. Berry. Funeral services were held at his late home Sunday afternoon, Rev. Charles Noyes officiating. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Charles Johnson, S. William Ingalls, Jacob L., and B. H. Farnham.

The floral tributes were: From Miss Annette Berry, a large bunch of beautiful white roses and ferns; Cochichewick Lodge, a beautiful square and compass of roses and pinks; North Andover Grange, a very handsome pillar of roses; Royal Arcanum, an ivy crescent; a mound of lilies of the valley, Miss Olive A. Rea; a bunch of white tulips and lilies of the valley, Mrs. Moses Goodhue; a large ivy wreath, Miss Mary Averill; cut flowers, Mrs. M. T. Stevens. Interment in Ridge-wood cemetery.

Among those present from Council 65 Royal Arcanum, of which deceased had been a member since 1878, were Mr. Parkhurst, Past Regent; Barnett Rogers, Regent; Moses Farnham, Vice Regent; John McDonald.

Memory's Tributes.

A day more nearly perfect than Tuesday could hardly have been granted or desired in which to honor the memory of the soldier heroes whose abnegation of self gave to the nation its life, liberty, and unity, and placed the people thereof in lasting indebtedness to the achievements of their valor. About 8 o'clock the procession left Water Street in the following order, in command of Chief Marshal M. T. Wadlin:

Representation of Police,
W. J. Toohey, Assistant Chief.
North Andover Drum Corps.
Co. L., 8th Reg't, M.V.M., Lieut. Forbes, 46 men.

Needham Post, G. A. R., Lawrence,
Senior Vice-Commander Brown, 60 men.
Delegation of Sons of Veterans of Lawrence and town.

Following the procession were carriages containing the orator, Rev. George Walker, and Rev. Henry Matthews, the officiating clergyman; Selectmen Greene and Daw represented the town; barge containing disabled veterans; Surgeon General W. J. Dale and Railroad Commissioner W. J. Dale, jr.; barge with choir of school children. The team bearing the decorative emblems was in charge of Comrades A. J. Barker and O. P. Morrill.

Gathered about the G. A. R. lot in Ridgewood a large concourse of people listened attentively to the exercises conducted by Mr. Edward Butterworth:

Memorial Hymn, School Children
Invocation, Rev. Henry Matthews
Oration, Rev. George Walker
America our Home, School Children
Prayer, Rev. Henry Matthews
Decorating of graves.

At 10.40 o'clock the line was reformed and marched to Stevens Hall, where a substantial lunch was served by Messrs. C. M. Sanborn, James M. Craig, M. W. Dunbar, Fred Carr, Horace Barker, William Frost, James Thompson. Two anthems were rendered by the school children in the hall, "Beloved Land" and "Hail, Freedom's Banner." After lunch the procession proceeded to Water Street, and was formally dismissed by the marshal.

Following is a brief synopsis of the remarks made by Rev. George Walker in Ridgewood Cemetery:

I. Reference, with great satisfaction, to the new departure in observing the day more as a memorial to those who laid down their lives for their country, and not so much on the lines of the Fourth of July and of political victory. We commemorate those who have gone before; they live in our grateful memories as in this free land we now reap the benefit of their self-sacrificing heroism. They rest from their labors, and "verily their works do follow them." But we must not forget the veterans who are still with us, and who did such noble service. They, too, willingly offered themselves, and are worthy of all grateful remembrance.

II. What was it which moved men to such self-sacrificing deeds? It was true patriotism, love of country. And why is this so important as to demand the surrender even of life if need be; and for which we should feel bound to render thanks to God in solemn service? Because patriotism is a religious, a Christian duty. We should pray for our country, for our rulers, and for all in authority. We should teach our children to do so; to pray for deliverance from all sedition, privy conspiracy, and rebellion.

III. Patriotism should be taught from earliest childhood. I believe that second only to their Saviour and His church, children should be trained to love and serve the land which is their providential heritage.

IV. Year by year adds new graves to your list; year by year your ranks on earth are growing thinner. As we stand here in this sacred place, under the open eye of heaven, and on such a day as this when all nature speaks to us of the "day of restitution of all things, let us realize more than ever that we are citizens of another and a better country. Let our strife be to bear ourselves with just loyalty to all things true and just that we shall stand in that day when God shall have ready for us the "new heavens and the new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness."

NOTED.

Cochichewick No. 2 used to fly the national colors in recognition of Memorial Day. No flag was observed Tuesday.

Capt. Coan while in command of his company in the Memorial Day parade, was struck and knocked to the ground by a horse which became unmanageable while being ridden by Patrick Collins, Tuesday morning, on Elm Street, just below the Cong. Church. As a result of the mishap, Capt. Coan was painfully bruised in several places, his uniform badly torn, so he was obliged to retire from service during the day.

The disciplin and soldierly bearing of Co. L were less marked than usual, Tuesday morning, due apparently to carelessness.

The grave of comrade Hiram Goodhue, in the neighborhood burying ground on the Albert Berry farm, was remembered Tuesday by the soldiers.

GENTLEMEN—I have been troubled with ASTHMA for 40 YEARS, suffering so badly as to be unable to lie down in bed for any length of time, being compelled to obtain what sleep I could getting in a chair.
Have tried Doctors and every medicine I could get or hear of without obtaining much relief.
Last Spring I saw

DANA'S SANSAPARILLA

advertised and concluded to try it, though without much faith, but after taking a few doses, feeling easier at night I continued, and at the expiration of a few days I was enabled to sleep in a HORIZONTAL POSITION AS WELL AS A CHILD. Have never had any more attacks. In consequence of which my general health has improved wonderfully. Have only taken two bottles.
